The Emblem of the University of Ruhuna

The emblem of the University of Ruhuna depicts the island of Sri Lanka being illuminated by the flame of a simple traditional earthenware lamp. The flame rises from near the centre of the southern coast (where the main campus is located), and its effulgence, represented in short, straight, radiating lines, appears to light the entire island. These are circumscribed by two concentric ovals with their vertical sides, the exterior to which on the upper half runs the Pali motto “paññā naranam ratanam” (Wisdom to mankind is a treasure), and on the lower half the name of the university in Sinhala “ruhuna vishva vidyalaya” (University of Ruhuna). Another similar oval, but in a bolder line, runs around the lettering enclosing the entire design.

1.1 Introduction

The University of Ruhuna is a leading state university in Sri Lanka. In keeping with its motto “Wisdom to mankind is a treasure”, the university is striving for high academic standards in different areas of study. Having several faculties located at beautiful sites throughout the Southern province, it is one of the most picturesque universities in Sri Lanka. The main campus at Wellamada-ma is built on green hillocks overlooking a tranquil lake. Given the abundance of stunning greenery, together with the unique architecture of the world-renowned architect late Geoffrey Bawa, the university truly befits its glory. Elegant buildings with pavilions and verandas and scenographic spaces separated by courtyards and gardens harmonise the university and its environment, resulting in a university of great beauty that provides a fascinating place to study.

Initially, the University of Ruhuna was established by a special Presidential decree on the 1st of September 1978 as the Ruhuna University College by fulfilling a long-standing aspiration of the people in Southern Sri Lanka to have a university in the region. It was elevated to full university status on the 1st of February 1984. Although the university was started with four faculties; today, it has developed and expanded to ten faculties: namely, Agriculture, Allied Health Sciences, Engineering, Fisheries and Marine Sciences & Technology, Humanities and Social Sciences, Management and Finance, Medicine, Science, Technology, and Graduate Studies.

Presently the university offers Bachelor’s, Master’s, and PhD degrees in over ten disciplines. In addition, Diploma and Certificate courses are conducted in various fields of study. At the first recruitment of the University of Ruhuna for the Bachelor’s Degree Programmes in 1978, a total of 272 students were enrolled. Exhibiting its remarkable growth and fame during the last four decades, the student population has risen to 16201 students (in the year 2025), across ten faculties.

1.2 Location

The main campus of the University of Ruhuna at Wellamadama, Matara, is located close to Dondra, the Southernmost tip of Sri Lanka. The Wellamadama campus is spread across 72 acres of land and is 4 km away from Matara along the Colombo Hambantota (A2) road. Matara (Sinhala: මාතර Tamil: மாதத்தறைய) (originally Mahathota) is a well-known commercial city on the Southern coast of Sri Lanka, 160 km from Colombo. Historically, the city belonged to the kingdom of Ruhunu. According to the Mahawansa, it was inhabited by the first Indians who arrived at the island. Although a city by the world-renowned Southern sea, Matara is also favoured by lush woodlands, valleys, and hills. Traveling to Matara, from around the island has become most convenient due to the extensive transport services available to and from the city. The expressway, as well as the general route, could be taken to reach the city. The journey through the general route takes about four hours from Colombo, while one and a half hours through the expressway.

2.1 Introduction

The Faculty of Management and Finance is one of the fastest-growing, prominent faculties of the University of Ruhuna. It is located in a beautiful setting at Wellamadama premises amidst natural surroundings and a congenial atmosphere for learning and research.

The Faculty of Management and Finance (FMF) was established on the 29th of April 2003 as the sixth faculty of the University of Ruhuna by catering to the long-felt needs of the people of Southern Sri Lanka. In the beginning, it had only two departments, namely the Department of Management and Entrepreneurship and the Department of Accounting and Finance. Later two departments were introduced: The Department of Marketing and the Department of Human Resource Management. Currently, the Faculty of Management and Finance comprises six departments, with two newly established departments: The Department of Business Management and the Department of Finance. Since its inception, the faculty has gained a sound reputation in promoting management education in the country through interactive and collaborative teaching and learning. Today, the faculty has the second-largest student base in the university.

The faculty offers courses covering a broad spectrum of disciplines leading to the Bachelor of Business Administration (BBA) Honours Degree. Accordingly, six BBA degree programmes are conducted under six major academic departments. They are based on the course unit system, and the courses are conducted in English. All courses are well designed, and the curriculum is rigorously and continuously updated to align with the fast-paced environment. The faculty is also equipped with a computer unit and an e-learning centre to enrich the standards of the Programmes. Recently, the faculty's BBA degree programme was accredited as an “A” Grade Programme by the Quality Assurance Council of the University Grants Commission, Sri Lanka.

Apart from the undergraduate programmes, the faculty offers postgraduate courses including, Doctor of Philosophy (PhD), Master in Philosophy (MPhil), Master of Business Administration (MBA), Master of Business Management (MBM) and Postgraduate Diploma in Business Administration (PDBA). Moreover, the faculty offers several diploma courses such as Diploma in Marketing and Diploma in Human Resource Management.

The FMF has retained a remarkable and dedicated academic staff who actively engage in teaching by sharing their expertise. The faculty is blessed by their willingness to take on new challenges in ensuring high-quality teaching, learning, and research. Currently, it employs 59 members of academic staff and 18 non-academic staff who provide support services to deliver all possible solutions for our students.

Guided by its vision and mission, the FMF aspires to produce employable graduates who can adapt to the changing demands of the labour market. To thrive in the 21st century, the new generation of graduates requires a broad set of skills and competencies. Further, the faculty has recognised the importance of balancing theory with practice in producing well-rounded management graduates who are able to pursue productive careers in academia, the government, and in the industry. Hence, it has taken great strides to foster partnerships with the industry, research community, and different stakeholders nationally and internationally to enhance the quality of academic programmes through development projects, work placements and impactful research.

Vision of the Faculty

“Produce graduates with a sound knowledge, skills, and attitudes of Management and Finance to ensure and uplift the socioeconomic standards of the country”.

6.1 Introduction

Established in 2021, the Department of Finance is one of the newest departments within the Faculty of Management and Finance. The department produces highly skilled graduates who can meet the emerging demands of the finance field in both the Sri Lankan and international contexts, where career opportunities are expanding alongside the rapidly growing business sector, particularly in banking and finance. Therefore, the department aims to attract talented and enthusiastic undergraduates who aspire to build careers in finance, taking on roles such as credit analyst, financial officer, financial advisor, investment analyst, financial/investment planner, banking executive, loan officer, and investment banker.

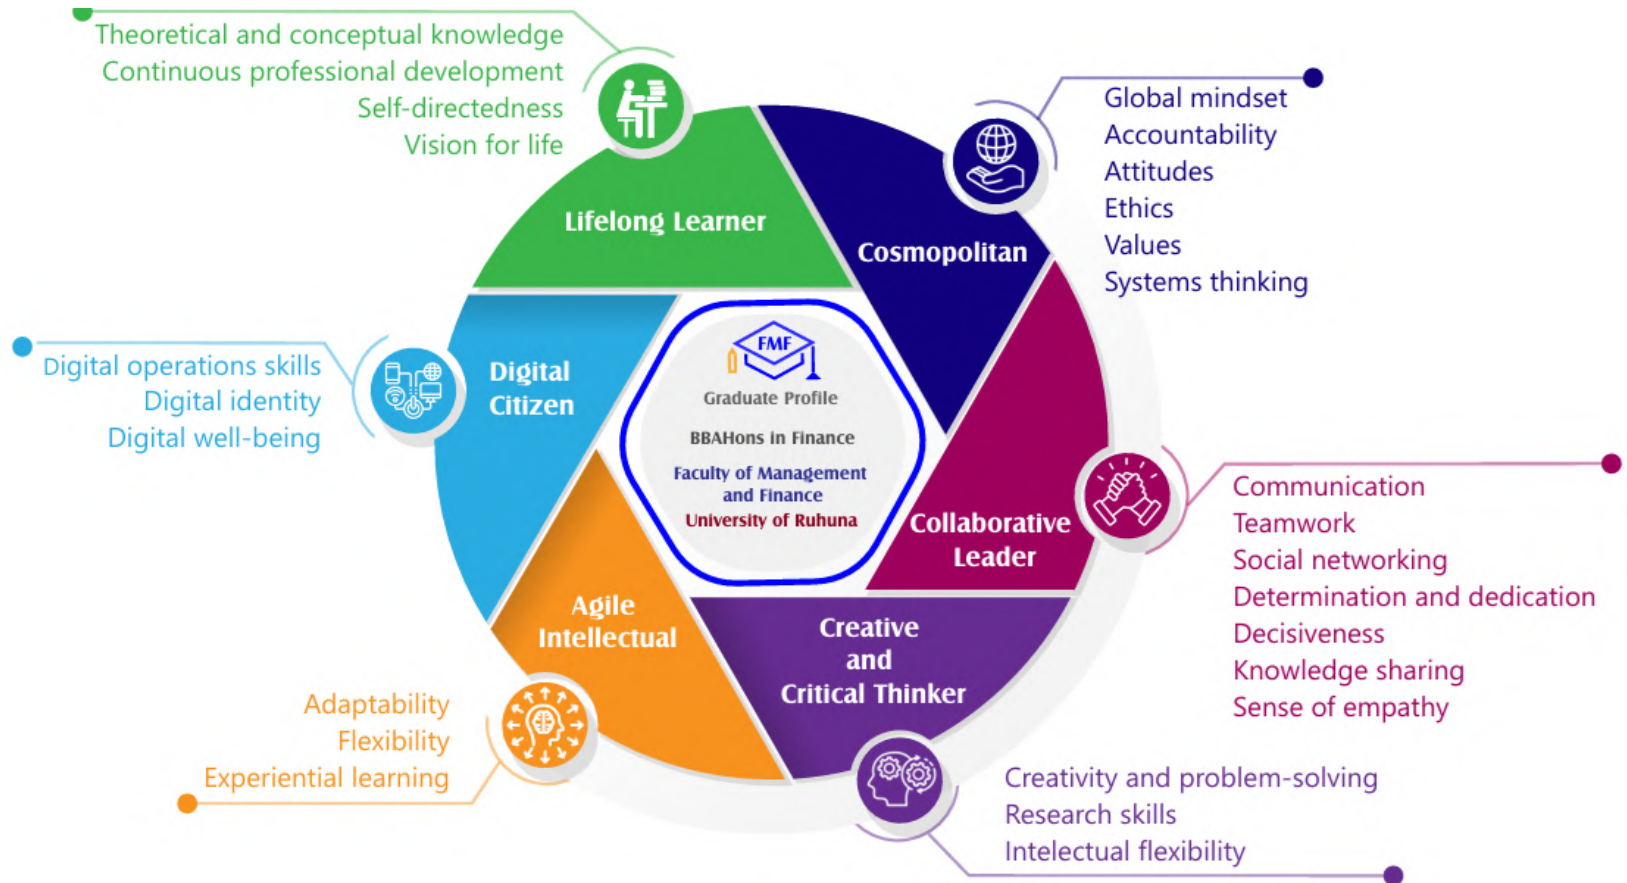

With a limited intake, the department strives to foster an interactive, student-centered learning culture where each student receives individual attention. Guided by a meticulous and highly qualified team of academics and in close collaboration with industry experts, students in the Department of Finance can enhance their knowledge, skills, and professionalism. This enables them to understand and evaluate the factors shaping modern financial systems and the investment industry, as well as to apply these competencies in managing businesses effectively.
